

Invitation to February 24, Breakfast Seminar

The U.S. Antitrust Focus on Asian Companies: Increasing Compliance and Reducing Risk

Speaker: Donald C. Klawiter & Jennifer Driscoll-Chippendale

In the recent months, the US Department of Justice has made Anti-trust charges against some Japanese companies. Some of these charges have led to a large sum of penalty.

In our February Seminar, we are inviting 2 lawyers who specialize in the area of Anti-trust regulations to speak to us about the Anti-trust focus by the US Department of Justice and its implications to the Japanese companies.

Mr. Donald C. Klawiter

Mr. Klawiter is a partner in the Antitrust and Trade Regulation practice group in the firm's Washington, D.C. office and leads the Firm's East Coast Antitrust Practice. Mr. Klawiter's practice focuses on antitrust investigations and litigation - criminal and civil - with special emphasis on international cartel matters. He has defended corporations and executives from six continents in grand jury investigations and prosecutions, including international cartel investigations in the food and feed additives, vitamins, graphite electrode, chemicals, pharmaceuticals, computer products, construction, glass, automotive, transportation, plastics and brokerage industries, and has served as international coordinating counsel in many multijurisdictional proceedings.

Ms. Jennifer Driscoll-Chippendale

Ms. Driscoll-Chippendale is a partner in the Antitrust and Trade Regulation practice group in the firm's Washington, D.C. office.
